Legal grounds for Heath House using an Individual's Data

This section contains information regarding the legal basis that Heath House relies upon when handling individual's personal data.

Legitimate Interest

A legitimate interest means that it is necessary for Heath House to process an individual's data. We rely on legitimate interests for most of the ways in which we collect, use, store and handle personal data. Specifically, Heath House has a legitimate interest in:

- Providing educational services to children
- Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of all staff and children
- Promoting the ethos and interests of Heath House, this also includes ensuring the school's rights can be enforced for example being able to contact parents if fees are not paid
- Facilitating the effective operation of the school
- Ensuring that all relevant legal obligations of the school are complied with.

If an individual wishes to object to Heath House using their information where legitimate interest has been relied upon, they should contact the School Manager and Bursar, Mrs Elena Laslett-Shaw immediately.

Necessary for a Contract

In certain situations, Heath House will need to use an individual's data in order to perform contractual obligations with parents or where appropriate, contractual obligations with staff. For example, Heath House must have a parent's name and contact details to ensure parents can be notified of a child's progress or so that the school is able to make contact should a concern or issue arise.

Legal Obligation

Heath House may need to use an individual's personal data in order to comply with a legal obligation such as to report a concern to Children's Services. It is also necessary for Heath House to have data to comply with the Education Regulation (2013) and the Education Act (1996). As a school, we may also be asked to provide data to the courts, the local authority or the police where the law dictates.

Vital Interest

This basis is relied upon to ensure the prevention of harm coming to an individual by way of collecting data such as allergy information or information on any other condition or illness.

Public Interest

Heath House Preparatory School considers that it is acting in the public interest by providing education to children.

Special Category Data

'Special categories' of particularly sensitive personal information require higher levels of protection. We need to have further justification for collecting, storing and using this type of personal data. The special categories are: Personal information revealing racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, genetic information, biometric information, health information and information about sexual orientation. Heath House does not hold data on individuals which falls into each category but has a duty to inform individuals the categories which are classified as 'special'. We may process special categories of personal information in the following circumstances under the following legal basis:

Substantial Public Interest

The processing of special category data is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest. For example, to not have such data that could endanger an individual or a group of individuals.

Vital Interest

To protect the vital interest of the individual where that individual is not able to give their consent, for example if they are seriously hurt.

Legal Claims

This allows the school to share personal data with legal advisors and insurers should there be a need to establish or defend a legal claim.

Medical Purposes

This includes emergency medical treatment or first aid should the need arise

Data Retention

Core Data, in the form of the pupil's record, will be kept for the period which we are mandatorily required to keep it which is a period of 25 years from child's date of birth. This is kept in the form of physical records and will also be kept on the schools admissions register. This retention period is in line with the Independent Schools Association (ISA) guidance.

- The admissions register will be kept indefinitely to comply with regulation.
- Supplementary information will be kept for 6 years after the child leaves Heath House at which point the data will be securely disposed of. This is information such as attendance records.

Detailed information on all retention periods is available on request, free of charge, from the School Office. Please contact the School Manager and Bursar, Mrs Elena Laslett-Shaw to obtain a copy.

No personal data is retained indefinitely with the exception of the admissions register which is required to be must be kept to comply with regulation.

Data Storage

The physical data which Heath House has is stored in secure filing cabinets which are locked, in a locked office to ensure their security when not in use. During working hours, the office is not left unattended. If a situation arises where no appropriate staff member is available to be in the office, the cabinets are locked and so is the office until their return.

Heath House uses SIMS, a School Information Management Software to store data in addition to the physical data that is held in paper form. The data held on SIMS is a replica of the personal data held in physical copy and is designed to be a secure way for staff to access information such as names and dates of birth, to take daily registers, access allergy information and other data that relates to the teaching and care of children in attendance at Heath House. SIMS is a GDPR compliant company and is registered with the ICO.

In addition to SIMS, Heath House also uses CPOMS. CPOMS (Child Protection Online Management System) is the market leading software solution for monitoring safeguarding, wellbeing and all pastoral issues. CPOMS are GDPR compliant and registered with the ICO. Strict policies are set on CPOMS so that only relevant staff (such as the Class Teacher and DSL) can see particular information about a child. CPOMS integrates with SIMS to extract children's names, year groups and basic parental information as well as attendance and punctuality data.

Some data is stored electronically on laptops and computers owned by Heath House as well as on the cloud storage systems Synology and Google Drive. All laptops and computers are password protected. The passwords are not generic and changed regularly.

All teachers back up all documents saved on their laptops or computers to the cloud data storage systems. As cloud storage systems, Synology and Google Drive records the IP address from which a user logs in in addition to the time that the user logs in and how long they are logged in for. These records are held only on the relevant cloud system, the date is not recorded elsewhere. In addition, alerts are sent to administrators via the Synology Desktop for unusual login activity such as a user logging in from an unknown or unusual location. This data is only accessed by the IT Co-Ordinator and Senior Management Team.

In the event of exceptional circumstances leading to a school wide closure, teachers may need to work from home and will use Microsoft Teams to teach remotely. Each child will be issued with a username and password to access Microsoft Teams. The only information that is required to create the Office 365 user account is the child's name. Following this, each child is assigned to a year group Team. No other data will be shared to create the Teams account. Consent will be obtained from parents for the sharing of a child's name/ year group for setting up a Teams account.
